

GMS President Nakashima Receives the Small and Medium Enterprise Agency Secretary Award in JAPAN VENTURE AWARDS 2019

Tokushi Nakashima, President-Director/CEO of Global Mobility Service, Inc. (hereafter referred to as “GMS”) has received the Small and Medium Enterprise Agency Secretary Award in “JAPAN VENTURE AWARDS 2019,” presented by the Organization for Small & Medium Enterprises and Regional Innovation (hereafter referred to as “SMRJ”, “the organization”).

【The Award Ceremony】

As the core implementing agency for SME policy in the country, SMRJ is an organization which supports the development of SMEs while providing support at each stage of corporate growth and cooperating with other governmental organizations both within and outside Japan. The “JAPAN VENTURE AWARDS” honors the owners of high-tech start-up companies that engage in innovative, fast-growing businesses and businesses that help solve social issues, and recognizes entrepreneurs who boldly challenge themselves as the next leaders of Japan since the year 2000.

On this occasion, GMS was recognized for creating a system which enables loans and leases to be used by the poor who did not possess the ability to pass credit assessments, and for realizing their dream of owning their own vehicle. Moreover, GMS was also highly evaluated for integrating SDGs into its business, and making efforts towards solving the social problem of poverty by creating new credits through visualizing the work of users.
