

GMS to be Introduced at the G20 Ministerial Meeting on Trade and Digital Economy Selected as “A Global Business Case which Promotes Sustainable and Inclusive Growth”

Global Mobility Service, inc. (Headquarters: Minato-ku, Tokyo, President-director corporate executive officer/CEO: Tokushi Nakashima, hereafter referred to as "GMS") is pleased to announce that it has been officially decided that GMS will be introduced at the G20 Ministerial Meeting on Trade and Digital Economy to be held in June, 2019. It will be presented as a business case toward business operators and governments around the world.

Led by the G20, the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry promotes trade and investment that contributes to sustainable and inclusive growth. GMS was selected as “a global business case which promotes sustainable and inclusive growth,” and was highly recognized from the perspective of "business potential," "innovation," and "social impact."

Through our vision, “Through the provision of mobility service, we make people happy”, we work towards realizing a system in which every individual is correctly evaluated for their work. By confronting poverty and other social issues which tended to be unrecognized as business targets of private enterprises, we create economic rationality which leads to the developing of true “sustainability.”

The recognition of our activities as promoting “sustainable and inclusive growth” will be a great encouragement for us to further engage with the SDGs and to work toward the promotion of solving social problems.
